Insulation And Refractory Works

We at Redbuilts are passionate about insulation and have the flexibility to meet our customer's specific needs. We have a team of specialised workers who have worked on various types of cladding and insulation works in multiple projects in the Oil & Gas sector and experienced supervisors who direct the projects to a safe and timely completion. We take up projects that include application of thermal insulation to piping, ducting, machinery, boilers, heaters, exchangers and all manner of flat or contoured surfaces inclusive of protective coatings or claddings. We also work on refractory lining works.

Portacabins, container houses and temporary construction facilities

Cabins are portable structures especially used in construction sites and many other places. The portable cabin, which can be produced in various sizes, create closed living spaces in open areas with their disassembled features. Equally popular are container houses. We at Redbuilts have vast experience with fabrication and supply of such cabins. Major clients of ours in the Oil and Gas sector also use our services in establishing all kinds of temporary construction facilities.
